

Hell (Room E)

The area around here is rocky and the sky is dark. Fires burn in the distance, and the sounds of loud music and people shouting can be heard. Doesn't seem like anyone's actually being tied up and tortured, though. Well, except one guy, but it looks like he's enjoying it...

It certainly doesn't seem to be a very lawful place. Some people are fighting in a wrestling pit as a crowd cheers them on. Couples are busy making out and many people are in various stages of undress. Some people are smoking, and another person seems to be in some sort of drug-induced haze. A man with horns stands nearby, smiling darkly and twirling his tail around a pitchfork he's holding.

There is an endless supply of iron spears here.