

[Scene 4C]

Pat Gipp

Blue Phoenix is in possession of a bioweapon. They refuse to go through the proper channels and send it to the Emeran government. Orkney did, at least, fire the traitor, but you're still not sure you'd trust Blue Phoenix with paperwork, let alone a launch. You must make sure Orkney makes the responsible decision here.

But... if Blue Phoenix doesn't set off a rocket right now, will it end the Emeran space program forever? That... would be less than ideal. Blue Phoenix has been the pride of Emera since it started on these missions...