

THE MADWARRIOR

Handout - The Manowarrior

Full moon's light is calling me, my kingdom lies within

The mystic soul and lion's heart brought by the talisman.

The ecstasy of battle takes me where the falcons fly.

Immortal youth was granted me - I will never die.

The Manowarrior is the mightiest warrior The Kingdom of Steel has ever seen. Day in and day out he wanders The Eternal Battlefield fighting the enemies of the realm. The Manowarrior was born with a sword in his hand and he will die with a sword in his hand, but if you ask him, he will say that no one is mighty enough to strike him down.

He is a lone wolf, because there are none as powerful as him. He is a self centered and brash man who only looks out for himself and where to find the next battle. His ego is enormous and almost as legendary as his martial prowess. He thinks he is the greatest and that no one in the entire Kingdom of Steel can measure up to him.

The Manowarrior is a follower of the pillar of Independence, and he does not need anyone else to solve the world's problems or take down dangerous monsters. He is only helping The King of Metal as a favor. He greatly dislikes cooperation. Other warriors only make life more difficult for The Manowarrior.

There are however problems that not even The Manowarrior can overcome alone. He must learn to set his ego aside and realise that there are other ways of defeating The Kingdom of Steel's enemies.

The Mighty Steel Sword

The will know the power of my sword

Forged from the purest steel in a roaring forge, folded a thousand times by The Kingdom of Steel's greatest craftsmen, tempered in the blood of the enemies of metal. This is The Manowarrior's sword - the mightiest sword on all of Planet Metallica and the only companion the mighty warrior trusts.

Belt of the Dragon Eagle

The power of blood the triumph of steel

The Manowarrior covers not himself in armor nor accessories, but his belt is decorated with this peculiar talisman. Legend tells that The Manowarrior travelled across the world to find a smith who would craft him a belt of magical strength.

When he finally tracked down a craftsman with the skills to forge it, the smith asked the Manowarrior whether he desired the strength of the Dragon or the cunning of the Eagle. The Manowarrior had no doubt - he wanted both. And so it came to be.

The Banner of Boldness

I'm fighting for Metal 'cause it's here to stay

The Manowarrior says that Satan himself sent this banner up from the depths of hell when The Manowarrior was in dire need. The banner renewed his strength and awoke an unprecedented fighting spirit in the warrior's heart. Satan himself must have chosen him and used the banner to show that The Manowarrior alone is the true champion of Satan. The banner is made from the horn of a fearsome demon and the fabric is woven from the mane of the majestic horse Sleipner.